

GLOBAL PATTERN OF RACIAL COMPOSITION OF POPULATION

RACE – In simple terms, race means the distinguishable physical characteristics (phenotypes) among human beings. The physical traits include skin color, facial cut, hair types , height, nose and associated features.

Race has no relation to religion ,language ,culture or any form of social or cultural norms. Race is primarily determined by heredity and environment. Race is formed by the complex process like Mutation, natural selection, migration, isolation etc.

In the present time, there is no pure form of race. It is because the population all over the world has mixed up and interbreeding has taken place giving rise to several subtypes of races all over the world.

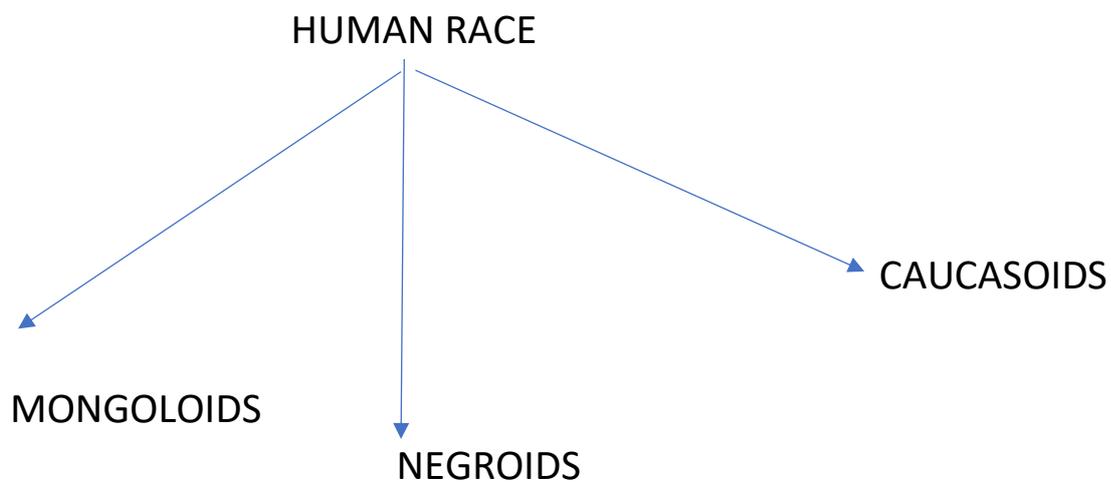

Fig 1- Negroid father and son Fig 2 Negroid woman

fig 1 – mongoloid man

fig 2 mongolian girl

Fig – 1 Caucasoid boys and girls